

Dear Hiring Manager,

My name is Alex Rowland, and I am submitting my application for the Junior WordPress / Front-End Developer position at Ideatree. I am a Full Stack Web Developer working primarily in the MERN Stack, and also hold degrees in Economics and Music from Wesleyan University.

I recently created a web application that checks current surfing conditions along the California coast. The application allows users search for nearby spots based off any address within 30 miles of the coast, and to leave comments about each spot they visit. Since then, I have been building a social network application using MongoDB, Express, React, Redux, and Node.

In a past life, I spent time working in the music industry, both as an artist and as a businessman. Having worked with various artists throughout my career, I understand how to bring an idea to life from nothing, and how to collaborate. Since becoming a software engineer, I have found these skills to be useful. As a Front End Developer at Ideatree I will bring a hard work ethic, a love for creativity, and an excitement to learn.

I look forward to hearing from you soon.

Best,

Alex
